

ACCUMALUX Group is a leading manufacturer of high-quality plastic components, specializing in injection-molded parts for batteries and high-tech products. With production sites in Luxembourg and Europe, the group employs more than 400 employees.

To strengthen its team of qualified employees at its Bulgarian site, ACCUMALUX Group is recruiting for immediate or agreed entry, an Analyst-Programmer.

Responsibilities

- Lead the development of applications for the group
- Maintain and update existing web applications (Angular + Java SpringBoot)
- Manage the group's websites
- Manage projects involving the study and implementation of third-party IT solutions
- Constantly strive to propose innovative solutions

Education / Experience

- Master's degree (5 years of higher education) in Computer Science or equivalent experience in a similar position.

Required skills

- Solid knowledge of Java, HTML, CSS, and Typescript
- SQL database management skills
- Understanding of how a REST API works
- Knowledge of web server management (Apache + Tomcat)
- Use of Git
- Experience developing applications using Angular and Spring Boot is a real advantage
- Fluency in English

Personal qualities

- The ideal future employee will be dynamic, rigorous, and flexible
- They will have a sense of responsibility and be able to work completely independently

We offer an attractive environment and the prospect of career development within a solid and rapidly expanding group.

